

Real News About Reel People

By Bide Dudley.

Have you ever noticed that film heroines are rarely, if ever, tall? Sedition is the screen beauty more than five feet two inches in height. One reason is that daintiness is always to be desired in pictures where beauty counts for so much. Here are the heights of some successful young heroines:

Vera Steadman, five feet three; Teddy Sampson, five feet two; Dorothy Mackall, five feet four; Fay Harbar, five feet two; Beatrice Monson, five feet four; Dorothy Leeds, five feet four; Helen Darling, five feet five; Mary Wynn, five feet four; Patricia Palmer, five feet one; Dorothy Wood, five feet three; Irene Dalton, five feet six; Dorothy Orth, five feet one; Lillian Biron, five feet four. Their weights range from 100 pounds for Dorothy Orth to 130 pounds at which Irene Dalton tips the scales.

DORIS WAS DUMPED IN.

Doris May, who has been cast as one of the principal parts in Maurice Tourneur's forthcoming production, "The Foolish Matrons," didn't get into pictures. She was thrown in! Her first experience was doubling for Mary Pickford in a scene where she was thrown into the ocean from a boat.

WOULD RISK LIVES.

The average person has no idea of the number of people who follow hazardous lines of business for a livelihood, or how many are willing to take a chance for a few dollars. William Fox advertised recently for a professional diver who was willing to brave the rapids of Algonquin Chasm, N. Y., in some scenes Director Richard Stanton is making for a picture featuring Mary Carr. On Monday morning 150 persons called at the Fox studio willing to take a chance. The pay is about $25 a day.

HE READS LIPS.

Charles A. Taylor, directing Oliver Morosco's "The Half Breed," is an expert in lip reading, and finds much amusement in motion picture theatres "listening" to what the actors "say" in the scenes. What the titles would have the actors "say" and what their lips indicate often are as far apart as the poles. That is why such an elaborate script of dialogue was prepared for "The Half Breed." Some of the cast have had to memorize hundreds of lines, and they never were allowed to put in any irrelevant conversation.

IT TOOK SOME TIME.

Jackie Coogan says it was four years old when he began making "Peck's Bad Boy" and six when it was finished.

"So, you see," remarked Jackie, "I spent three whole years on that picture."

HE KNEW WAR TAX.

"Now," said King Baggot, directing Carmel Myers in "Cheated Love," a story of the ghetto, "everybody on his toes. This is the big scene; in fact, it's the vortex of the plot."

"Do you know what 'vortex' is, George?" asked Carmel of a little boy, furnishing part of the local color in the film.

"Sure," replied the youthful actor. "That's the extra cent you pay for an ice cream cone."

HE WANTS SCOUTS.

C. V. Bender, assistant scenario editor at Universal City, has addressed a communication to the leading universities of America offering $50 to any student who will suggest a book or magazine story available for picture purposes. While the readers at Universal City cover almost the entire field of modern publications, Bender believes that many stories appear in local or obscure magazines and newspapers that might furnish excellent material for the screen.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Vera Barry drove a hansom down Fifth Avenue (other day). Abel Gance, author of "J'accuse" is coming here from France. Harry C. Brown, the banjoleist, is to play leads for Alice Calhoun. Harry Cohn is in from California with another "Hollywood Boy."

John Mathis is adapting Molnar's "Lilom" for the screen.

Billy West, screen comedian, assures us that "to err is woman." Alice Fleming has been cast for a part in "The Conquest of Canaan." Louis B. Mayer has begun making a film of "The Wandering Jew." After Oliver Morosco launches "The Half Breed" he will film "Slippy McGee."

Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven have begun on a pictorialization of "My Lady Friends."

Charles Ray's next picture will be "The Barnstormer," written by Richard Andrew.

Kenneth Harlan will be seen opposite Constance Talmadge in "Woman's Place."

Pete Smith has been out among the Redskins and has arranged for some Indians to tour with "Bob Hampton of Placer."

W. S. Campbell, director of animal comedies for Educational, is paying his first visit to the East since he ran away from his home in Ashley, Pa., twenty years ago, to go with a circus.

Noted Artists Volunteer for Daughters of Israel Benefit.

A benefit for the Day Nursery Daughters of Israel has been arranged to take place at Carnegie Hall on the afternoon of May 1, when a very fine musical programme will be presented. Among the artists who have volunteered their services are Max Rosen, Joseph Schwartz and Sara Sokolny Fried.

INVESTIGATE POLICE AFFRAY

Chicago Chief Out to End Drinking and Shooting in Force.

CHICAGO, April 21.—There is trouble in store for drinking, fighting and shooting policemen—that is, shooting policemen who shoot each other. Chief Fitzmorris boiled over at the last display of police activity, during which a quarrel met in a saloon, began an argument and one was shot down, mortally hurt.

This is the third affray between policemen and the trouble is ascribed to bad feeling aroused through protection of bootleggers. The Chief has called to his aid from outside his force a group of investigators who will put the bad spots under espionage. Among the investigators will be a number of women who will test some of the charges made against the police.

Make Vegetables Inviting

ONE of the most difficult problems a mother meets in the feeding of growing children is in getting them to eat vegetables. A diet without these, both raw and cooked is incomplete. Make your salads so inviting that the children demand them.

LEA & PERRINS SAUCE

used in your favorite salad dressing, gives a zest and flavor that is irresistible.

By adding Lea & Perrins Sauce you can make cooked vegetables, potato salad and lettuce salad so tasty that children will ask for them. Add Lea & Perrins Sauce to vegetables just before taking them off the fire. It improves your favorite salad dressing beyond comparison.

Not a "washing powder"—but a new form of soap in fine granules

This test shows the difference

"WASHING POWDER"

—high in harsh chemicals
—low in suds
it pours out

RINSO

—absolutely harmless
—so rich in soap
it "jells"

At first glance these granules may look to you much like the "ordinary" washing powder. But make this test. Use a heaping teaspoonful each of Rinso and "washing powder" to a glass of boiling water. After a few hours see what happens. The Rinso is so rich in soap it jells and can be turned out. The "washing powder" pours out.

It is because Rinso is so rich in soap, because it contains so much real cleansing value, that it soaks the dirt right out of the clothes. It is made of finer quality ingredients than have ever before been used for the family washing.

At night you put the clothes into a tub of bubbly Rinso suds. In the morning you rinse them thoroughly. That's all. Rinso has loosened all the dirt so that it floats out in the rinse water. The clothes are perfectly clean, even if you rinse them in cold water.

You need never rub any except the very dirtiest spots, and those only lightly in your hands. You need only boil occasionally, if you wish to sterilize.

Soaked clean this new way your clothes actually last twice as long as when you wear them out with hard rubbing on the washboard. In the pure Rinso suds they are as safe as in water alone. For Rinso is so mild it doesn't even redden your hands.

Rinso softens hard water. Where water is hard make an increased amount of the "soap liquid," according to directions on the package, and continue adding it to your tub of cold water until you have a good rich suds.

Use Rinso this very next washday. Get it from your grocer or any department store. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.
